MODERN FOREIGN COINS

At one time I was the lone voice crying in the wilderness about the merits of collecting foreign coins. Now there are many collectors assisting me, who have "been there" and who know the pleasures found in the promised land.

It would take several pages to tell you about my choice stock of foreign coins, including some gold and crowns, many minor, and new and recent issues. Why not see the whole works for yourself by writing for my free price list? No charge, and a postal card will do.

Dealers: Please write on letterhead for wholesale list of coins per 10 and per 100.

Useful for cleaning all kinds of coins, but particularly adapted to cleaning coins of copper or nickel.

EASY TO USE AND ECONOMICAL! FAST ACTION — IT ACTUALLY CLEANS IN SECONDS!

Does not add shine, but brings out natural color, including original brilliance if it is still there under tarnish or coating. Dull or dark uncirculated coins become brilliant uncirculated coins in seconds.

This result of years of experiment can be safely used on valuable coins to improve their appearance and increase their value.

On sale in many leading stores in 4-oz. bottles, with full directions, at $1.00.

If your dealer does not yet have it, send us $1.00 for 3-oz. bottle (enough to clean hundreds of coins) carefully packed and postpaid to any address in the United States or Canada.

The DAG HAMMARSKJÖLD MEDAL THE FIRST IN A DISTINGUISHED SERIES THE "HEROES OF PEACE"

This dramatic, lifelike sculptured bust of the late U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld looks out with a troubled brow. A great man's concern and knowledge of the world's problems are reflected in this extreme high-relief of Hammarskjöld. He is depicted with an incredible inner realism by the distinguished sculptor, Mr. Philip Krackowski.

The reverse side of the medal incorporates a dedication message and a delicately designed "Hero of Peace" plaque.

The House of Shields, Inc., offers exclusively this first in a continuing series of medals, with the sincere feeling that it will be a treasured possession in itself, and, eventually, part of an entire memorable series.

All Limited Issues in Silver (.999Fine), 1-9/16" diameter, will be serially numbered and sell at $20. Orders received now requesting reserved serial numbers will be honored for the entire series. Bronze medals are 2-3/4" diameter and priced at $5.00. Only 25 Platinum serially numbered, $1500 each.

At the time this medal was being readied for issue, the United States Government announced the end of its sale of silver. This created a cost increase to the House of Shields in producing the 10,000 silver medals originally announced for the series.

With a sincere realization of an obligation to the many individuals who have ordered the first Heroes of Peace medal in silver, the House of Shields wishes to announce that there will be no increase in price on the original issue.

Over two thirds of this issue have already been sold, more than 3,000 of them at the dealer retail level.

Should you order the Dag Hammarskjöld medal now in its original silver issue, you will be guaranteed no cost increase for the succeeding 11 Heroes of Peace medals. Reminder: request reserved serial numbers in the limited issues.

All orders are now being processed with immediate delivery of the Dag Hammarskjöld medal.

JULY 1, 1863

July 1, 1863...one of the most significant dates in American history, for it was on this day that the decisive battle of the civil war commenced. The Gettysburg Numismatic society (A.N.A. No. 32281) is proud to present THE BATTLE OF GETTYSBURG COMMEMORATIVE MEDAL. Moreover, it is especially pleased to sponsor a medal that was designed and is being cast by two Gettysburg artists in historic Gettysburg.

This is a limited edition of 3500 serially-numbered medals cast by the lost-wax method. Each is 2 and $\frac{7}{8}$ inches in diameter, and each is individually finished and patined. This distinctive medal comes in a blue velvet case, boxed, and with postage prepaid. A descriptive brochure accompanies each medal.

Silver (sterling) serially numbered to 3500....$35.00

Dealer prices upon request.

Serial numbers are reserved in the order in which received. Orders for specific numbers are subject to prior sale.

ANNOUNCING

Two Important New Series of Commemorative Medals

This Spring, we will issue the first medals of two important new commemorative series. Like the superb Gatling Gun Centennial Medal issued by us last year, the beautifully made, richly finished, bronze and silver medals of these new series are certain to rank among the outstanding examples of contemporary medallic art.

Great American Generals

The first issue of this series, the Ulysses S. Grant medal, will be available in April 1962, followed in June by the Robert E. Lee medal; succeeding issues are to appear quarterly thereafter. These medals, each bearing the subject's portrait magnificently sculptured in high relief, will be a uniform 32mm (approximately 1¼") diameter. Prices: bronze medal, $2; silver (.999) medal, $10.

Naval Battles and Leaders

Like the "Generals" series, this is a continuing program; we plan to strike three "Naval" medals annually. First medal of this series commemorates the famous battle in 1862 of the Monitor and Merrimac; it is scheduled for issue in April 1962. All of the high-relief "Naval" medals are to be struck in the popular 2½-inch size. Prices: bronze medal, $3.50; silver (.999) medal, $30.

Sales Policy

To assure their future value, the production of silver medals of each issue will be limited to only 1000 serially-numbered pieces. Because of this very small quantity, in the interest of equitable distribution, not more than two silver pieces of an issue will be sold to any one customer. Serial numbers will be assigned in the sequence in which orders with full payment are received. Purchasers of the first medal of a series will have a priority on the same serially-numbered silver medal of the succeeding issue of that series. Great American Generals and Naval Battles and Leaders medals will be sold direct to collectors, not through dealers.

We are sure you will agree that these limited issues will sell out very quickly and become coveted—and valuable—collector's items; therefore, we urge you to order now and thus avoid the disappointment experienced by many collectors in the cases of several other desirable recent issues, now available only at premium prices.

EMPIRE COIN COMPANY, INC. offers

THE RARE QUARTER EAGLE OF 1841

Enlarged Illustration

It is with pride that Empire Coin Company offers a choice Extremely Fine specimen of the 1841 quarter eagle, one of only five authenticated specimens now in collectors' hands. This specimen was originally struck as a Proof, and retains the sharpness of features characteristic of that condition.

To own an 1841 quarter eagle, the "Princess of American Gold Rarities," is the dream of every serious collector of gold coins. The last specimen to appear on the market was offered in 1954, eight years ago. Another opportunity such as this may not occur for another decade, if ever.

Here is an outstanding opportunity to acquire this numismatic treasure, the largest American Quarter eagle. Seventeen thousand five hundred dollars.

An important message to all members of the A.N.A.:

When You Think of Selling . . .

Think of EMPIRE COIN COMPANY

Yes, when you consider selling your collection, think first of Empire Coin Company.

During past years it is a matter of record that collection after collection has been purchased by Empire. Why has this been so? Let us tell you:

One of the most important reasons Empire has had such great buying success is our willingness to pay a top price. After carefully examining a collection we make a firm cash purchase offer. Our up-to-the-minute knowledge of the rare coin market combined with our clientele of America's leading numismatists enables us to pay you a high price. A check through our records shows that over 90% of the offers we make for coins and collections are accepted! We invite you to find a comparable record elsewhere in the coin industry. Bear in mind also that many of these offers were made in competition with others.

By selling direct to Empire you realize a high price and you are paid immediately. There is no indefiniteness of what the coins might or should bring at auction, and no need to wait several months or more for payment. Most collection sales to Empire are made without any publicity whatever. You can be assured of a completely confidential transaction if you so desire.

We have handled millions of dollars worth of rare coins, including most of the great American rarities, during past years. We have never, without exception, received a comment of dissatisfaction from anyone who has sold to us.

Another important reason for our buying success is our numismatic knowledge. Members of the large Empire staff are experts in all fields of American, foreign and ancient coins. In addition to the regular series we are well qualified in the diverse series such as tokens, store cards, patterns, colonial issues, territorials, etc. Many new and important varieties have been first identified on Empire premises. Our reference library and research facilities are second to none among professional numismatists.

Empire has always enjoyed a high professional reputation. We have always followed a strict code of ethics in both buying and selling. Profit is a secondary motive with Empire . . . our first consideration is your complete satisfaction.

If you are contemplating the sale of your collection and would like a fair, honest and confidential transaction, write or call Empire. One of our representatives will be pleased to discuss the sale with you. There will be no obligation whatever on your part.

THE NEW FDR MEDAL

Fourth in the Original Presidential Art Medals Series

Presidential Art Medals, Inc. is proud to introduce its latest medal . . . the Franklin Delano Roosevelt medal. Like all medals in the Presidential series, the unusually high quality of the FDR medal was achieved through the combined skills of the Medallic Art Company, the only American company devoted exclusively to sculptured bas-relief, and Mr. Ralph J. Menconi, a sculptor internationally recognized for his abilities in full portrait and high relief work.

This is the fourth medal in the original Presidential Art medals series. Three or four medals will be issued each year until a medal has been struck in honor of each President. New medals will be struck thereafter as Presidents are inaugurated.

Limited production, fine sculpturing and the unmatched quality of these medals will assure their increasing value. Purchasers of platinum and silver medals in the preceding issue (Washington) will be given priority on the same serially numbered FDR medal.

Bronze medals of Presidents Kennedy, Lincoln, Washington and F. D. Roosevelt are still available at the original issue price. These medals are individually boxed and accompanied by an attractive and informative pamphlet on the President and the sculptor.

The FDR Medal will be available about March 15. It is offered as follows:

*Platinum (pure)	25 serially numbered pieces	$500.00 ea.
*Silver (.999+)	6500 serially numbered pieces	10.00 ea.
Bronze		2.50 ea.

*All platinum and silver medals subject to prior sale. See above. Ohio residents must add 3% sales tax. Dealer inquiries invited.

Now . . . the official Presidential Art Medals album is ready for immediate delivery. This 11" x 12" heavily padded black leatherette album displays both sides of each medal in the entire series. Thick pages and acetate slides protect the high relief of the medals. Send $15.00 for your individually boxed album or write for descriptive literature.

NUMISMATIC REVIEW

Vol. III, No. 1, 1962

The first issue of the Review for this year has already been mailed to our Subscribers. There is a stimulating essay by Dr. Schwarzenberg on "Coins from the Old Frontier" that will tell you something about a European Frontier that once had much in common with the American Frontier we are all familiar with, thanks to Hollywood's discovery that the Horse Opera is cheap to make and quick to sell. In addition to coins from this "Old Frontier" there is an interesting list of fine Ancients, Talers, modern Gold and a selection of pieces from the historic dependencies of Great Britain in the days of both the Old Empire and the new Commonwealth.

A Selection from Review #1, 1962

THANK YOU FOR ALLOWING US to start our THIRTIETH YEAR AS PROFESSIONAL NUMISMATISTS. After all, it is you, the collector, who keeps us in business. Little did we realize in 1928 when A. M. Kagin started collecting, that instead of "playing with coins" part time, R. O. Hollinbeck (founder) would allow him to "play full time" starting in 1933. We still enjoy "playing with coins" and have the additional enjoyment of helping others to "play with coins."

HAPPY ANNIVERSARY

For a number of years our anniversary message has appeared about this time each year. Each year our many friends (collectors and dealers) have wished us a happy anniversary. May we take this occasion to publicly acknowledge these many felicitations, and thank those who have extended them.

ADVERTISERS PLEASE NOTE ALL FOLLOWING CONDITIONS

All correspondence relating to advertising should be addressed to the Advertising Manager, S. W. Freeman, P. O. Box 591, Newport, Ark. Make all remittances payable to the American Numismatic Association.

No advertising accepted from minors.

Advertising Contracts: These are available, covering periods of three, six and twelve consecutive months for display space as listed in the above Table of Rates, and are necessary if the schedule of reduced rates is to apply. If the advertiser prefers not to accept the Contract, such reduced rates will be granted only upon payment in advance for the period desired.

References: All advertisers who submit copy for the first time are definitely requested to furnish therewith banking or other satisfactory references.

Available Space Units: Practical considerations restrict the allocation of space units to those listed in the above table. Any amount of space (subject to any current limitation) is available IF these units or a combination of them are used. Unless contrary instructions are given, copy will be cut if found too full for the space designated; if no designation is made, it shall be understood the amount of space is left to the discretion of the Advertising Manager.

Unless under contract, smaller units than one-half page accepted subject to available space in desired issue.

Deadline: Copy must be received by the Advertising Manager by the 5th of the month to insure insertion in the following month's issue.

Illustrations: All cuts to be provided by the advertisers, care being used to see that they do not exceed in measurement the limits of the space unit desired. The Advertising Manager, when absolutely necessary, will have engravings made from furnished photographs, at national rates, to be paid for by advertiser.

We cannot accept mats or stereos.

Miscellaneous: Please furnish copy separately from your letter of transmittal. Advertising copy included in the body of a letter usually has to be retyped for the printer; this should not be required. Mail Bid Sales listing not acceptable. It is also the policy of the magazine to limit its advertisements to those of numismatic character.

Preparation of Copy: Advertising copy should be prepared with minute care. Carelessness invites error — something which both advertiser and publisher are anxious to avoid. Use only one side of the sheet. Send originals, not carbon copies. Use only paper of good quality, and not of extremely light weight. All copy must be typed, no handwritten accepted.

In the absence of an Advertising Contract, when payment in advance for any number of consecutive months has been made, if change of copy has not been received by the 7th of the month for the next issue, the latest preceding advertisement will be run.

Advertisers may use a trade name, but, except in the case of an incorporated concern, the name of the proprietor or some other responsible person connected with the firm must also appear in the advertisement.

The right to edit copy, to require payment in advance, and to decline any advertisement is specifically reserved.

S. coins, half cents to twenty cents. — ESTHER STERN, Sec.

and Loan Association the second week end in December. This Club is only four months old and was highly pleased with the outcome of its show. The exhibits, billed as South Georgia's largest, was divided into three sections: coins of the world, U. S. gold coins and proof sets, and U. S. paper money. Club President Capt. Nolan Diehl and M/Sgt. Roger Miller of Moody AFB, Georgia, featured in the coins of the world class; Mrs. C. H. Griffin showed gold coins and proof sets; paper money was exhibited by F. E. Wilcox. The exhibits included silver and gold commemoratives, sets of obsolete denominations of U. S. coins, a type set of Queen Victoria coins, coins of the Hanoverian reign, ancient Japanese and other Oriental coins, fractional currency notes, large size U. S. notes, and pre-Civil War bank notes. Other members who displayed included M. J. Paine, recent proof sets; Mrs. Marie Crockett, "pirate money"; C. E. Joyner, Barber half dollars; Capt. D. M. Clifford, complete set of Lincoln cents; and F. E. Moss, miscellaneous items. Interest in the show was so great that we plan to make it an annual affair. — D. M. CLIFFORD, Sec.

Numismatic Vignettes

■ What's become of "Justice"? Collectors of pre-Civil War (and pre-Bureau of Engraving and Printing) bank notes find the female representation of Justice with her balance reassuring the holders of many notes. She appears on a few very early United States notes — mostly in high denominations — printed by the private companies. Some of the copper coins made during Colonial days depict her, but she seems to be a stranger to issues from the United States Mint and Bureau with the single exception of a 50¢ fractional note of the third issue. Liberty has many poses, hairdos and headdresses, Columbia has her shields and swords, eagles are defiant or peaceful, dimes carry fasces and torches of liberty, and even the vanishing Indian and bison are depicted on both coin and paper money. Has Justice been forgotten, or do we just take her for granted?

Never take a woman for granted, unless you want to lose her. Let's show our esteem for this virtuous lady, and for the principles she represents, by giving her a place on at least one piece of our current money.

■ Those who enjoy numismatic items with historic aspects should appreciate the medal pictured here. It probably was issued by Thomas Elder, New York dealer. The date May 10, 1775, indicates commemoration of the Second Continental Congress, which convened on that day. The remaining reverse inscription reads: CONTINENTAL CURRENCY — SEAL — WHOLE AMOUNT ISSUED — 3,000,000. This is the amount of the first issue of continental currency as authorized by the Second Congress. The obverse depicts an eagle (England) standing on a supine heron (the Colonies) with EXITUS IN DUBIO EST above, which was the design on all $3 notes issued by the Continental Congress. Our limited knowledge of Latin translates the motto to mean "the outcome is in doubt." And so it was! Faith of our Fathers — faith and a paltry three million credit dollars resisting the mighty resources of England. Today we have mighty resources, but do we have faith? Well, that isn't history yet. — GLENN S.

U. S. SILVER SALE SUSPENDED

President Kennedy, on November 28, 1961, suspended both further sales of the free silver held by the Treasury and its use for coinage. At the same time he announced the Administration's intention to seek repeal of the Silver Purchase Acts of 1934, 1939, and 1946. Under these Acts the Government must buy silver at 90¼ cents an ounce and sell it at 91 cents an ounce to anyone granted a license by the Treasury.

"These actions will permit the establishment of a broad market for trading in silver on a current and forward basis comparable to the markets in which other commodities are traded," the President said in a letter to the Secretary of the Treasury. "Our new policy will, in effect, provide for the eventual demonetization of silver except for its use in subsidiary coinage." — The Centinel, January, 1962.

It was with deep sorrow that I learned of the passing of my friend Lewis M. Reagan. With his passing numismatics and the A.N.A. have lost their most valuable servant. Lewis Reagan served the A.N.A. in the capacity of General Secretary for seventeen years and before becoming Secretary he was Director of Publicity for nine years. As General Secretary Lew carried the burden of an ever expanding organization's growing pains. We will miss him. — P. K. ANDERSON, A.N.A. Governor.

Tributes to Lewis M. Reagan

The Oklahoma-Kansas Numismatic Association lost a very good friend with the passing of Lewis Reagan. One of the founders of OKNA and a true numismatist, he will be greatly missed in this group. Lewis never missed an OKNA convention and was always available when we needed help or advice. He was not only devoted to the field of numismatics, but also devoted to his teachings of mathematics, to his many friends, and most of all, to his family. Lewis will be missed by all of us, but his memory will live with us forever. I feel it was an honor to have been associated with such a fine person. — GLENN L. KOESTER, President, Oklahoma-Kansas Numismatic Association

I sincerely regret the loss of our faithful General Secretary, Lewis Reagan. The 235 members of the DeKalb Coin Club send their sympathy. — MRS. ROSE FRITH

The Western Reserve Numismatic Club wishes to express its sincere sorrow at the loss of our A.N.A. General Secretary. He will be greatly missed by all of us who knew him personally. — FRED N. HAHLEN, Secretary

It was indeed with deep regret that I learned of the death of Lewis Reagan, our beloved A.N.A. General Secretary. Not only has the A.N.A. lost a loyal and devoted servant, but every numismatist has lost a true friend. From Lew I gained knowledge and inspiration in numismatics. With his mild reserve manner, somehow he would always have the answer. We in Indiana were proud of Lew, a native son, for his contributions to the A.N.A., and numismatics in general. He was Honorary Life Member No. 1 of the Indianapolis Coin Club, and a member of the Indiana State Numismatic Association. We all mourn his passing, and will always cherish his memory. — LEO G. TERRY

"Lew" Reagan was truly a devotee of the Association, but the quality which set him apart from others was his willingness to implement devotion with work and a practical approach to problems. He knew the Association and its members better than anyone else, and he coupled this knowledge with good judgment in determining what could and couldn't be done and who would carry out various assignments. It is said that no one is indispensable. The Association will continue to function and to grow. But Lew will be missed — missed by the officers, by the various regional and local clubs, and by the numerous friends he had from coast to coast. It will be many years before we cease to ask "How would Lew have done it," or "Lew would have done thus and so." — GLENN B. SMEDLEY, Assistant to the Editor, The Numismatist

It is with saddened and heavy hearts that we carry on without our beloved friend, Lewis M. Reagan. Bernie and I will remember him always and miss him greatly. — JOHN J. GABBARON, Librarian

The death of Lewis M. Reagan marks the end of an epoch in the life of the American Numismatic Association. He was an outstanding administrator and his very long years of official responsibilities for the A.N.A. had placed him in a position where he knew more actual members of the Association than any other officer in our history.

His quiet, unassuming nature allowed him to develop a close understanding of not only the affairs of our national association but the personalities and problems with which he was constantly confronted. He always realized the importance of local clubs and of regional organizations, and became by nature the liaison between many of these organizations and the national body.

He was a keen student of the individual and could have been an outstanding psychologist just as he was better recognized as a most able administrator, a brilliant mathematician and a very fine numismatist. Above all he was an eminent gentleman. — J. DOUGLAS FERGUSON, former A.N.A. President

The death of Lew Reagan is a tremendous loss to the A.N.A. He was a dedicated numismatist and it will not be easy to replace him. Everyone who has been associated with the activities of the A.N.A. knows the excellent work he did for the Association. — VERNON L. BROWN

NEW A. N. A. SLIDES

The Edward T. Newell Visual Education Committee under the chairmanship of John J. Pittman has added the following new items to its loan collection which may be borrowed by affiliated clubs for their programs:

Slide set No. 24, "Korean Coinage Conversation Pieces." Thirty-one color photographs tracing the history of Korean coinage from 996 A.D. to the present. The lecture notes were written by Alan D. Craig who, along with Glenn B. Smedley, was also responsible for the development and production of this slide set. Shipped express collect.

Slide set No. 25, "Types of Regular Issue U.S. Gold Coins." Fifty-two color photographs of all regular issue gold types from 1795 through 1933. These photographs were made from the coins in the collection of August F. Hausske, who also wrote the lecture notes. Shipped express collect.

Clubs which have borrowed slides in the past are asked to check their projectors to see if A.N.A. slides are still inside them. Many slide sets have been returned with individual slides missing. Club secretaries should return all A.N.A. slides after checking with the operators of the projectors.

much faster service, and this is our major goal."

Lew Walker, the Sacramento branch of this concern said, "The need for some improvement in the auction procedure has become increasingly evident. It has been our observation that dwindling action at floor bid sessions has demanded some imaginative action. As a result we put our minds to work to modernize and streamline the procedure in line with modern merchandising methods as demanded by the public.

"Let me hasten to point out that other factors are involved also, with the tremendous growth of our hobby, the huge numbers participating in these conventions, dealers, club members and visitors alike, the need for more space and time has been a problem we are always trying to solve. We believe that our Bid Board Sale will help to provide both and therefore permit the entire convention to function more smoothly. Further, because of the organizational possibilities of this type sale we will be able to give the auction customer much better and faster service and will also be able to publish the Prices Realized list in a matter of days rather than weeks. We feel that this is the kind of service to which our customers are entitled.

"We are grateful to the CSNA officers and directors for their vision and pioneer spirit for being the first to attempt this innovation. This is the new numismatic generation coming into full bloom."

Texas News

"Who's enjoying the situation the most?" A. I. Martin, President of Texas Numismatic Association, is presenting "Skip" Smith, fourteen, with a set of uncirculated wartime Jefferson 5¢ pieces to add to his collection. Why? "Skip" was the winner in a contest sponsored by the Editor of the state association's publication, Doris Martin, for a name for the junior section of the TNA News. "Skip's" entry was chosen and the section will be known as the Junior Readin' Roundup, featuring junior goings-on, articles of their interest, and their club news. The young man started a type collection but is concentrating on his Jeffersons — guess that's why he is so pleased. He must be lucky because he also won by drawing a membership into the TNA.

TNA President A. I. Martin and "Skip" Smith.

The Junior section is part of the Texas Numismatic Association's youth program. This program is the main numismatic project since it is believed that the youths should receive guidance along a worthwhile numismatic track to assure the future of our wonderful hobby.

CSNA Convention

The California State Numismatic Association's thirtieth semiannual convention, to be held April 5-8 in Sacramento, will witness an auction change that its supporters believe will revolutionize the floor and mail bid sales techniques familiar to all. As a result of ideas developed between the auctioneer and CSNA President Clifford L. Liss, the Board of Governors approved the innovation. To be known as a "bid board auction," it will be the same as other bid boards being operated by dealers throughout the country.

All items in the sale will be displayed from convention opening to 6:00 p.m. Saturday, at which time the books will close. Floor sessions will be eliminated. Bidding forms and auction material will be kept together so interested collectors may always see the material. Attendants will be on hand constantly to assist in registration and bidding. After closing at 6:00 p.m., delivery of auction lots can begin by 9:00 p.m.

Clifford Liss, when asked about it, said, "When the idea was first presented my immediate reaction was one of caution as I was not sure that the public would accept so drastic a change. However, after becoming more familiar with the auctioneer's plans and reviewing the changes required in all other kinds of merchandising, the many advantages to all concerned became apparent to me. I'm sure that all who participate in this convention will be happy they did so and will carry away many wonderful memories. This unique type of auction combined with the excellent and spacious facilities of the hotel, as well as the silver dollar Coin Hunt, commemorative medals, special noncompetitive exhibits featuring the gold rush days, Pony Express and Wells Fargo, tours of famous Sutter's Fort, the state capital and other historic spots, national dealers, A-1 security and other preparations and innovations should make this convention a truly memorable one."

Don Thompson, the Reno half of the DonLew Co., said, "We believe that the possibilities and advantages of this new type sale are so great that it may well prove to be the beginning of a new era in the ever popular hobby of numismatics. We believe too, that by employing this method of auctioning we will be able to give more fair treatment to mail and board bidder alike, as well as ing in 1664. Inscribed on the edge of the medallions will be a statement acknowledging the donation of the "unisphère," to be erected at the Fair site by the United States Steel Corporation, as well as reference to the copyright of the design by the New York World's Fair 1964-1965 Corporation.

The official memento of a major American event is the work of a company that has produced many of the important sculptured medals issued in the United States during the Twentieth Century. The Medallic Art Company was founded in 1900 by the late Henry Weil who introduced into this country from Paris the first Janvier machine for automatic reduction of sculptors' bas-relief models and the accurate reproduction of the designs in steel dies. The process was developed in France during the Nineteenth Century and revolutionized a craft dating back to the golden age of Greece. Prior to 1900, all dies for coins, insignia and medals made in the United States were hand-cut by engravers directly in the steel, or else the sculptured bas-relief models were taken to France for reduction and automatic cutting of the dies. Medallic Art Company has continued to use equipment similar to that imported by its founder, striking medals in presses utilizing up to 1,000 tons pressure. The preparation of a medal involves sixteen operations from the receipt of the sculptor's model to the finished product.

New Orleans Venus Mardi Gras Medals

Inspired by the world renowned New Orleans Mardi Gras, Lyn Planche, creative artist and former Mardi Gras Queen, has designed a medal to be issued annually in connection with this festive day. History has given us the detailed story of ruling Kings but has reported little on her sovereign Queens.

Mardi Gras Medals has announced a series of annual medals honoring these neglected Queens. The initial medal depicts a partially draped Venus, with legend KREWE OF VENUS at top, MARDI-GRAS at bottom, NEW ORLEANS in exergue on the obverse. Head of Cleopatra facing left is in the center of the reverse, QUEEN / CLEOPATRA to left, EGYPT / 69-30 B.C. to right, legend at top HONORING, at bottom SOVEREIGN QUEENS, in exergue HISTORY'S. Strikings of these crown-size pieces were authorized by the Captain, officers and members of the organization.

Two gold Venus "crowns" will be presented in Louisiana. One to the Governor for placement in the State Museum, the other to be given by the King and Queen at their ball to the Mayor of New Orleans.

Mardi Gras Medals has stated it will furnish each purchaser of the medal with an authentic certificate and registration of the serial number in the purchaser's name. Ownership transfer can be accomplished by returning the certificate for re-registration. The firm will keep a complete set of registers and as each series is finished, its die will be publicly mutilated and retained by Mardi Gras Medals, 718 St. Phillips St., New Orleans 16, La. Collectors may inspect the registration book at any time.

Fifty thousand bright aluminum medals are being struck but none is for sale. All will be distributed free by members of the Venus organization at the parade and ball.

Available to the collector in individually packed box with engraved serial number on the rim are these:

FUN Convention Success

The seventh annual convention of Florida United Numismatists, held January 11-14 at the Cherry Plaza Hotel in Orlando, drew ninety-six of the leading dealers from the United States and Canada. The exhibit section was one of the largest ever seen at a state affair. Publicity provided by the press, radio and TV resulted in attendance figures in the thousands. Pictures and news stories appeared in local, state and national papers and magazines; spot radio announcements began prior to the convention and ran through the week, and TV time was given for interviews with FUN officials and prominent collectors.

Officers elected for this year are: President Grover Criswell, Jr., First Vice President Jack Sweetman, Second Vice President Herb F. Jenne, Treasurer Douglas Brown, Secretary R. L. Hendershott, Directors Harry O. Adams, H. A. Brand, J. H. DePass, Cecil Moore, Charles D. Price and Grady L. Radford. It is planned to hold the 1963 convention in Clearwater if adequate facilities are available. — R. L. HENDERSHOTT, SEC.

Phony 1950-D five cent pieces are being made by buffing away the tail of the final nine of 1959-D coins, Ed Hutchinson reports from Philadelphia. These altered dates can be distinguished readily by the small naught created.

Example: Convert the year 1336 A.H. to the corresponding year in A.D. Multiply 1336 by .97 and get 1295.92. Eliminate the decimal fraction on the end of the 1295.92, going to the nearest whole number. In this case, it is 1296. (If the fraction had been .49 or less, the nearest whole number would have been 1295). Next step: add 622 and get the answer, 1918 A.D. The Mohammedan year 1336 A.H. began on October 17, 1917. That is late in our year and thus most of the A.H. year corresponds to 1918 A.D.

Translation of Arabic Dates on Coins

By

ROY W. OSBURN, A. N. A. No. 19735

Collections or accumulations of minor foreign coins often include some with lettering and dates which the average English-speaking collector cannot decipher. Of the coins from the Mohammedan world, one can learn to read the dates, as explained below, and enjoy the experience.

Arabia was the cradle of Mohammedanism and the Arabs have ardently spread that religion to other lands. It is natural, then, that the Arabic system of numbers and the Mohammedan method of counting time should be used in the countries where that culture predominates. Thus, coins from the Arab countries and some of those from the lands of Southeast Asia are dated according to the Mohammedan calendar and have the dates expressed in Arabic symbols. Some coins are dated according to both the Moslem and Christian systems and the latter date may be expressed in either Arab or Western figures.

In examining these coins, one notes that the date stands out from the other symbols and is almost always written in a horizontal line. Sometimes the date is divided, as in the case of some Western coins. However the dates are written, the Western numismatist can easily learn to translate them.

١ ٢ ٣ ٤ ٥ ٦ ٧ ٨ ٩ ٠

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 0

Let us first examine the Arab numbering system. There are ten symbols representing the nine quantities, one through nine, plus the "nothing" symbol used just as is our zero. Note how we use the zero symbol in such numbers as 1042 or 1908. When one learns to recognize the ten symbols or refers to the table, he can read any date or other number.

Turning now to the subject of how time is recorded, we note that the Mohammedan calendar differs from its Western counterpart in two ways. The year is shorter and the starting point for modern dates is different. Both of these factors are properly taken into account in the correlation formula given below.

A year of time on the Mohammedan calendar covers the span of twelve complete moon cycles (called a lunar year) which amounts to very nearly 354 days. Thus the year is eleven days shorter than the solar year (ours) of 365¼ days. Expressed mathematically, the Mohammedan year is only 97 percent as long as the solar year. This means that the beginning of each Moslem new year starts earlier than ours with relation to the seasons and with relation to our year. As a result of this, unless the Mohammedan year starts early in January, it will span parts of two Christian calendar years. Therefore, exact correlation between years in the two systems is not always possible unless the date and month are known and reference is made to a comparative calendar. And yet the formula given here, when used to convert a Mohammedan date to a Christian date AD year, almost always gives the latter year with which most of the Mohammedan year coincides.

As for the other calendar difference, all dates on the Mohammedan calendar are based on a starting point which is in the Christian year of 622 A.D. (July 16 of that year, to be exact). That was the time of Mohammed's flight (the Hegira) from Medina to Mecca which became the seat of the religious and political government. We use the initials A.H. for dates in this system to distinguish them from A.D. dates.

The formula for the translation of Mohammedan dates is: [(A.H. date) x .97] plus 622. Expressed in words: Multiply the Mohammedan date by the decimal fraction .97 and add 622.

Also reported are a 10 pengo, 100 and 20 korona, 1918, for King Karl IV. The above specimens are patterns. Would-be collectors of foreign coins struck by United States Mints may be disappointed to find that the Philadelphia Mint did not use a mint mark when striking for foreign governments during the early years and prior to WWII. However, the letter "P", or in some cases, the word "Philadelphia," was included on many of the wartime coins — perhaps to distinguish these coins from the same denomination struck at Denver and San Francisco. Along this line of mint mark use, it might be well to observe that the Hawaii silver issue dated 1883 does not bear the mint mark "S", or any reference to the San Francisco Mint, although the entire issue was struck there.

ferred with their being put into circulation." The next Asian customer was China when it ordered 9,720,096 silver dollars and 50¢ pieces in 1938. These coins were also struck at San Francisco, but according to Wayne Raymond, were not put in circulation "as far as we know."

World War II caused the largest number of countries to ask the United States Mints for assistance in coinage. Between 1941 and 1944 inclusive, fourteen new customers were added to the list. Mostly, they were the overrun countries of Europe and their colonies, as will be seen by glancing at the appended list, but surprisingly, Bolivia for the first time ordered coins: 3,500,000 zinc pieces of 20¢ and 10¢ denominations in 1942. Saudi Arabia turned to the United States in 1944 for 30,000,000 one riyal silver pieces .916 fine. Liberia turned over to the United States in 1941 the original Birmingham (England) dies and had the United States use them to make a total of 1,312,500 pieces of ½¢, 1¢ and 2¢ out of nickel. Another surprise; in 1944 the United States struck 100,000 five kroner pieces out of brass for Greenland. This is amazing, not because it is Greenland (her mother country, Denmark, was under German occupation at the time), but because Greenland has had so few coins of her own, the first government issue being in 1926 and this one in 1944 only the second government issue.

Of course, the United States struck all Philippines coinage from 1903 to 1945 while the Philippines was our dependency – except for the years 1920-37 when the United States branch Mint at Manila was in operation. It was not until 1946 that we might have struck coins for the Philippines as a foreign government, but those coins totaling 46 million pieces were never released, as remarked by George S. Vanderwende in the March, 1959, Numismatist. We might speculate that these 1946 coins were struck by dies made from the 1945 master die and struck before July 4, 1946, the date on which the Philippines became an independent republic. The 1945 die stated UNITED STATES OF AMERICA on the reverse, and if this die was used for 1946 coinage that could well explain the failure to release them. In 1947 the United States struck 100,000 peso and 200,000 50¢ silver pieces, .800 and .750 fine respectively, for the Philippines at the San Francisco Mint. This is the set of coins in commemoration of General Douglas MacArthur, who was honored by the Philippines Republic July 4, 1961, in Manila on the sixteenth anniversary of the Republic.

It might be of interest to quote here the following concerning the Manila Mint, from the report of the Director of the Mint, fiscal 1919, page 11:

Complete coining equipment, to be electrically operated, for installation in the Mint shortly to be established at Manila, P.I. has been constructed at the Philadelphia Mint. This machinery consists of two coining presses, two rolling mills, one cutting press, one topping machine, one strip shear, one upsetting machine, two tumbling barrels, one coin-reviewing machine, one automatic weighing machine, one six-foot bullion balance, four hand balances, one rotary annealing furnace, six oil melting furnaces, five sets of punches and beds, five ingot molds, and all accessories necessary to complete the installation for the coinage of silver, nickel and bronze.

The coining presses were built from patterns acquired and are the first coining presses ever built in any Mint in the United States. They, as well as all of the machinery mentioned, have been thoroughly and successfully tested. The manufacture of this machinery demonstrates that the machine shop of the Philadelphia Mint is fully equipped for and capable of taking care of all machinery requirements of the Mint Service. During the past year the shop has been taxed to its capacity.

From WWII through 1959 there have been three additions to our list of foreigners: Syria in 1948, ordering 7,000,000 pieces of silver .600 fine, in denominations of 50 and 25 piasters; Haiti in 1949 when it ordered 15 million german silver pieces in denominations of 10¢ and 5¢; and Korea in 1959, ordering 100, 50 and 10 hwan pieces. The coinage for Government were, upon completion of the coinage in June, 1884, forwarded to and remain in the possession of the Director of the Mint. The application specified the coinage of a piece of the value of one-eighth dollar, but this was subsequently changed to a piece of ten cents.

The total coinage, in pieces and value, was as follows:

DENOMINATION	PIECES	VALUE
dollars	500,000	$500,000
half dollars	700,000	350,000
quart. dollars	500,000	125,000
ten cents	250,000	25,000

A chronological list of the dates on which each country began to have some of their coinage struck by U. S. Mints is appended to this article, but some observations seem in order to expand the meaning of that list.

We freed Cuba from Spain in 1898, yet that country waited until 1915 to order coins from us. Then they ordered gold coins in the 20, 10, 5, 4, 2 and 1 peso denominations, silver in 1 peso, 40¢, 20¢, 10¢, and nickel in 5¢, 2¢ and 1¢ denominations. In 1916 Cuba ordered much the same denominations in gold, silver and nickel, but the total number of pieces varied considerably. From that time on Cuba seems to have just kept her small silver and minor coinage up to annual needs through small orders every few years.

Mexico, with her large and historical Mint at Mexico City – developed through her many years of striking the great number of silver coins from the fabulous silver mines production – has turned to the United States only a few times for coinage. The first was in 1906 for 5 and 10 peso gold pieces, then in 1907-08 for more gold coins and also silver, struck at the branch Mints as follows: 50¢, 4,802,000 at Denver; 50¢, 12,442,000 at San Francisco; and 20¢, 5,434,699 pieces at New Orleans Mint. This striking at New Orleans is the only foreign coin that Mint had a chance to handle as it was discontinued in 1909. 50¢ pieces were struck at Denver in 1908, and then Mexico did not place another order until 1935, when 50¢ pieces of raw silver were struck at all three Mints. The United States struck a silver .902 fine peso for Mexico in 1949, but this entire striking (2,000,000) was never issued, that being the year Mexico devalued the peso, and only a few pieces escaped the melting pot. These are valued at $50.00 and up.

A few of our other southern neighbors turned to us for coinage prior to 1900, namely: Ecuador, who has been a consistent customer since 1895; Costa Rica, since 1897 when the United States struck 60,017 gold 10 colonos pieces, but ordered no other coins until 1904 when 630,000 bronze 2¢ pieces were struck; Dominican Republic, since 1897 when the United States struck silver coins as follows: 302,441 pesos, 303,028 medio pesos, 380,720 20¢ pieces and 759,715 10¢ pieces.

By 1920 five other southern countries had turned to the United States for coins; and one, Argentina, had the United States make a total of 52,675,000 planchets out of nickel for their 20¢, 10¢ and 5¢ coins. There is no record of what foreign Mint struck coins from these planchets, but most likely its own Mint did the job. Strangely, Guatemala waited until 1925 and Honduras 1931 to start doing business with our Mints, but since those dates both countries seem to have been good customers.

The first European customer was Poland, and that country had the United States Mint strike only one denomination, the silver two zloty piece in 1924 and 1925. Other Europeans followed later.

The Asian continent first bought from the United States in 1921, when French Indo-China ordered 4,850,000 silver piasters; these and 1,150,000 piasters struck in 1922 were made at the San Francisco Mint. In 1940 and 1941 San Francisco struck a total of 100,270,000 pieces of nickel 20¢ and 10¢ for French Indo-China but Wayte Raymond says, "the war inter-

FOREIGN COINS FROM U. S. MINTS

By

HENRY S. SMIEDING, A.N.A. No. 38517

AN interesting sidelight on our United States Mints is that for many years our Mints have struck coins for foreign governments — 37 different countries in all, through 1959.

It all began in 1874 in the 43rd Congress, 2nd Session, to quote from the Report of the Director of the Mint, fiscal year 1874, page 192:

Under the provisions of the act approved Jan. 29, 1874, authorizing coinages to be executed at the Mints for any foreign government applying for the same, applications for the execution of certain coinages have been received from two governments, and are now under consideration by the proper authority.

There is no further word on the matter, nor does it appear who the governments were who so applied, until this quote from the Report of the Director of the Mint, fiscal 1876, page 294, partially clears the matter:

At the request of the Venezuelan Government, and in conformity with an act of Congress . . . preparations are being consummated at the Mint in Philadelphia to coin for that government 12,000,000 nickel-copper pieces . . . The capacity of the Mints of the United States being heavily taxed in manufacturing the large amount of subsidiary coin required to redeem the fractional currency, the planchets for the Venezuelan coin will be prepared by private parties, and received at the Mint, subject to assay, ready for the coining presses. This arrangement will prevent any interference with our own coinage, as the capacity of the Philadelphia Mint for striking pieces slightly exceeds that of the preparation operations which the metals undergo before they are ready to be coined.

The coinage tables for fiscal 1876 do not show any coins struck for any foreign government; however, the Mint Report for fiscal 1877 on page 7 has the following:

Early in the last fiscal year the following coins composed of an alloy of copper, nickel and zinc were struck at the Mint in Philadelphia for the government of Venezuela, viz: 10,000,000 pieces of Un Centavo 2,000,000 pieces of Dos Y Medio Centavos. Planchets were prepared by private parties at the expense of the agent of the above named government, and the coins were simply stamped at the Mint, the expense of which operation was paid to the Mint and afterward into the Treasury of the United States.

From the appendix tables in the above cited report it appears that 268 dies were made by the Mint for Venezuelan coinage (see Appendix VIII, page 34).

The next foreign coins were struck in 1883 for Hawaii, and there have been several fine articles in The Numismatist about this curious issue, so it will not be expanded here except to submit the following quotation from the Mint Report, fiscal year 1884, page 4:

Application having been made by the Hawaiian Government for the coinage at the San Francisco Mint of one million dollars in silver of denominations to correspond with the coins of the United States in weight and fineness, Regulations 11/9/83 were prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury, as required by the Act of Jan. 29, 1874.

The coinage applied for having been authorized by the Secretary of the Treasury, the Director, with his approval, fixed the charges for coining the number of pieces specified, and the charges having been paid, the coinage was commenced on 11/17/83.

The dies prepared for the purpose and furnished by the agent of the Hawaiian

A.N.A.-C.N.A. COMBINED CONVENTION

Attendance at the combined American and Canadian national convention in Detroit August 15-18 will provide an opportunity for the collector to meet in person coin dealers who heretofore have been only names in numismatic publications. The bourse, with over one hundred tables, has long been completely sold out and will consist of leading dealers in the United States, Canada, and Europe. The dealers' stocks might be termed "a numismatic dream."

The Crystal Room of the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel, which will be used exclusively for exhibits, is one of the most beautiful display rooms in America. Exhibits will be notable, presenting a panorama of world coinage through twenty-five centuries. Exhibitors are requested to send their registrations in early.

Plans are under way for the banquet on Saturday, August 18, which will bring the combined American and Canadian Numismatic Associations' conventions of 1962 to a dramatic close. The Sheraton-Cadillac, Detroit's largest hotel, is renowned for its excellent cuisine and superb service. An outstanding menu has been planned, and negotiations are now under way to obtain entertainment that will be a fitting finale for this history-making convention.

The success of the A.N.A.-C.N.A. combined convention is largely the responsibility of these men shown at a planning session. They are, l. to r., seated, Banquet Chairman Pierre Palmentier, General Chairman Earl Schill, Exhibits Chairman Henry Burns; l. to r., standing, Medal Chairman Charles Hoskins and Bourse Chairman Ben Stocker.

While all conventions that have been held in Detroit in the past have been highly successful, the widespread interest, the advance registrations, and exciting committee plans all indicate that the August, 1962 combined convention will far exceed anything that has been presented in the United States or Canada.

CALL FOR ANNUAL A. N. A. CONVENTION

The annual convention of the American Numismatic Association will be held in the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel, Detroit, Mich., August 15-18, 1962. The seventy-first meeting will be held in conjunction with the ninth annual convention of the Canadian Numismatic Association. Members of both organizations are invited to attend.

No copper cents were struck at the United States Mint during 1943, wartime needs for that metal having necessitated a change of alloy to zinc-coated steel. Investigation of some allegedly copper cents of that year have proved them to be zinc-coated steel cents which had been copper-plated after reaching circulation. It is also possible that dates have been altered on copper cents of other years, giving them the appearance of having been produced by the Mints in 1943. — U. S. MINT

Palma wished to have patents taken out on the present and future designs.

June 1st. Carty suggested that the original design be modified by replacing the words UN PESO by SOUVENIR.

July 16th. The first coins, 181 in number, were struck at the shops of the Dunn Air-Brake Company at Philadelphia, from the die and silver flans sent by the Gorham Co.

July 17th. 383 coins were struck.

July 18th. 288 coins were struck. This made a total of 852. However, six more seem to have been produced and thirty were subsequently destroyed as defective, leaving a balance of 828, the total issue of Type I.

August 3rd. After a delay due to a modification in the design, 4,286 of Type II were struck at Providence, R. I. The die broke the same day. (Incidentally, I have seen a specimen with a slight die break).

August 20th. With a new set of dies, 4,856 coins of Type III were struck, completing the original order of 10,000.

March 9th. The Junta authorized the Gorham Co. to mint one thousand pieces including some brilliant proofs. These are the 1898 peso. It will thus be seen that Type I of the souvenir is 172 pieces rarer than the 1898 peso and correspondingly more valuable.

This then constitutes the new information for which we have to thank Robert Pesant. There are, however, a few additional details I should like to add from my own investigations.

My first step was to communicate with the Gorham Company but with the following negative result: "We are sorry to tell you that there are no existing records in our files dating back to the turn of the century. However, many of our older employees do recall that we did manufacture coins for many of the Latin American countries."

The Model

Leonor Molina, born in the last months of the Ten Years War in the province of Camagüey, emigrated to the United States with her family in 1897. On her arrival she found that she had been selected from a number of candidates for the honor of serving as model for the revolutionary coins about to be minted. Miss Molina was eighteen at the time. Until a few years ago she lived quietly and alone in Miami. It is indeed remarkable that no government or society has honored or distinguished her in any way, but when all of them have been forgotten the effigy on these coins will remain as her imperishable monument. In her lifetime she used to wear a striking in gold of the souvenir, presented to her by her cousin, Octavio Zayas Adán, but unfortunately the piece disappeared before her recent death at the age of seventy-six.

It had been my intention to treat of these rarities but due to special prevailing circumstances I was unable to examine the three pieces known to me. Perhaps some members could give us their views on specimens they have examined.

Type I in high relief with its widely separated date numbers and the legend PAT 97 on the truncation of the bust is easily identified but the differences between Type II and Type III are not so obvious. They may be tabulated as follows, the details of Type II being mentioned first in each case:

OBVERSES. The legs of the three Rs are of normal length on Type II; the legs of the three Rs on Type III are shorter. On Type II the distance between the point of the 7 and the letter D is one sixteenth of an inch; on Type III this distance is an eighth of an inch. The star on Type II is below the base of the date; on Type III the star is above the base line.

REVERSES. In the better specimens of Type II an M may be observed in line with the foot of the palm tree when the coin is held at a certain angle; on Type III this M is absent. The fess end of the key is separated from the rock on Type II; the fess end of the key almost touches the rock on Type III.

CUBAN REVOLUTIONARY PESOS

By

THOMAS LISMORE, A.N.A. No. 20537

A paper presented to the American Numismatic Association convention
August 25, 1960

The Delegation of the Cuban Revolutionary Party had been established in New York as early as the year 1892. Its original officers were: José Martí, First Delegate; Tomás Estrada Palma, Second Delegate; Gonzalo de Quesada, Secretary; and Benjamín Guerra, Treasurer. When Martí left for the war, Estrada Palma occupied his place as First Delegate. Between the years 1893 and 1898 this body collected for Cuba $1,517,000, a considerable sum in those days. The coins we are about to discuss formed part of this effort.

Source of Information

The previous uncertainty about these issues was principally due to the deficient sources of information at our disposal. These sources may be summarized as follows:

a.) Documents in possession of relatives of the original Junta or Delegation. As an example of this, I refer to a letter written by Estrada Palma in testimony of the services rendered by Octavio Zayas Adán, Junta Finance Commissioner, in the matter of what he calls "the issue of the silver dollars of the Republic," which clearly indicates that these pieces were coins and not medals.

b.) Contemporary notices in the press. Thus, here we have an advertisement in the newspaper Patria which states: "The Delegation of the Republic of Cuba has ordered the striking of a silver coin of nine-tenths fineness weighing 348 grains, as shown in the design here reproduced. This coin will be a valuable remembrance of our heroic struggle for independence and redeemable at par by the Republic after the evacuation of the Spanish forces."

c.) The files of the Delegation brought to Havana by Estrada Palma and subsequently, in 1906, deposited in the National Archives. The letters and documents up to the year 1896 have been published in book form but those of the crucial year 1897 are still in manuscript.

By the examination of these papers Robert Pesant, the eminent collector and a member of our Association, was able to add more precise details to the facts already known. He published his findings in the Numismatic Scrapbook Magazine for February 20, 1958, and also in the Spanish magazine, Numisma, illustrated by the photographs here available for your inspection.

Chronology

The clearest way to indicate the course of events as shown by these documents will be to list them in calendar form:

1897

March 12th. A. J. Cobe and Co. suggested a plan to make a coin the size of the Columbian half dollar. It would have to be endorsed and distributed by the Junta to ensure its successful sale.

April 21st. Cobe informed Zayas that the well known medallist, Philip Martiny, had offered to make a design and cast as a contribution to the cause.

May 10th. Andrew Cobe and Gustavus Markewitz signed a contract with Tomás Estrada Palma to the effect that a silver coin of the face value of one peso was to be issued and that ten thousand were to be delivered within sixty days.

May 11th. Cobe and Markewitz signed a contract with the Gorham Manufacturing Co.

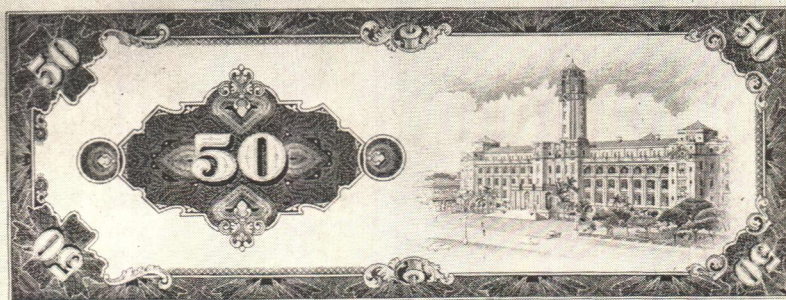

May 28. Jerome Carty, attorney, advised Cobe that the coins to be issued would be illegal without some changes. He also mentioned that

New Taiwan $50 Bank Note

Under authorization of the Central Bank of China, the Bank of Taiwan issued on December 25, 1961, the New Taiwan $50 bank note (equivalent to U.S. $1.25). The official description of the new denomination is:

Color: Both front and reverse side in intaglio printing in purple color; the front side, a symmetrical pattern in relief printing in tricolor.

Design: on the front side, a portrait of Dr. Sun Yat-sen on the left and a tricolored symmetrical pattern with "Fifty Dollars" inside, on the right. Above the pattern is "The Bank of Taiwan" in four Chinese characters, and below are the official seals of the Board Chairman and the General Manager of the Bank of Taiwan. On the four corners are "Fifty" two Chinese characters. On the reverse side, a single colored symmetrical pattern with "50" inside on the left, and the picture of the presidential mansion also with "50" inside on the right.

The new notes were printed in Japan and, as P. Y. Hsu, Governor of the Bank of Taiwan puts it, "the new $50 and $100 (issued earlier) notes will have a healthy influence on Taiwan's economy and will not stimulate inflation as has been widely suggested by leading Taipei newspapers." — ROBERT F. PINDER, Jr., A.N.A. No. 41391, China Post of December 23, 1961 and Pacific Stars and Stripes of December 30, 1961.

lection, the nucleus of which is the Howes, Emmet, and Myers collection.

Western Reserve Historical Society, Cleveland, has an impressive group of about seven hundred seventy-five pieces. The American Numismatic Society, Massachusetts Historical Society, and the New York Historical Society all have collections which contain approximately five hundred to eight hundred specimens. Only slightly less extensive is the Buffalo Historical Society collection.

One of the better institutional collections is owned by the Chase Manhattan Bank, Museum of Monies of the World, Rockefeller Center, N. Y. The collection consists of almost six hundred items, including a small number of duplicates.

The Connecticut Historical Society has a sizeable collection consisting of about nine hundred fifty different issues. They were assembled by a former president of the society, the late Charles J. Hoadley. A list of the items was published in 1939. The Connecticut State Library also has a moderately large collection of about two hundred items, none of which has been surveyed. The New Hampshire Historical Society has a small group, the details of which are not available. The Essex Institute, Salem, Mass., is also believed to have a moderately extensive collection but again an accurate appraisal is not procurable.

MORE ON JAPANESE EARTHENWARE COINS

Ten sen earthenware piece

Five sen earthenware coin

Referring to H. F. Bowker's "Japanese Earthenware Coins," The Numismatist, October, 1961, p. 1367, Kwahei no Reishi (History of Japanese Money), Asahi Shimbunsha, Book III, p. 53, illustrates the earthenware one, five and ten sen pieces. The author's line drawings shown here were taken from this reference.

The five sen has a fruit and leaf design on the obverse, the characters Dai Nippon above and the date "Showa twentieth year" below. The reverse has the characters for five sen staggered from right to left over a cherry blossom background surmounted by the chrysanthemum.

The ten sen has the kiri leaf and flower design for the obverse, Dai Nippon above and date below. The reverse shows a chrysanthemum in center with ten above and sen below, surrounded by a rice stalk drooping from right to left. Judging from the illustrations, the workmanship on these coins is excellent and give the appearance of an attempt to buoy national spirit, even though defeat is in sight. — JAMES J. PADDEN, A.N.A. STATE BUYS FIRST TERRITORIAL BANK

Illinois has acquired the building that housed the state's first territorial bank — the institution that once turned down a $1,000 loan to the city of Chicago because it "would never amount to much." The department of conservation said it had paid $6,000 for the structure, the John Marshall House at Shawneetown. The state also owns the first state bank building in Illinois, situated in the same town.

The second largest collection is owned by one of us (H.L.F.). It numbers about seventeen hundred twenty different items. Counting the signature variants would bring the total to about twenty-six hundred items. The collection is stronger than the Boyd collection in those of the southern colonies and states. It was formed by the purchase of several small collections and the addition of individual items over a period of many years.

A number of institutions have good collections but in no way do they compare with the private collections. The American Antiquarian Society has probably the largest institutional collection, having acquired the Spiro collection to add to their already existing group. The Ford collection, mentioned above, contains approximately a thousand to twelve hundred items. Of similar size is the New Public Library col-tween four and five thousand different varieties (issues, denominations, plate letters and minor variations) were produced in the century from 1690 to 1789. Of the thirteen colonies the notes emitted by New Hampshire are the rarest.

No collector has been able to build a complete collection and there is little probability that at this late date the feat will ever be accomnotes are badly worn and discolored and the material is becoming scarcer.

It was the pioneer autograph collectors in America who first became sufficiently interested in the notes to preserve them and build them into a collection. It is likely they were as much interested in the signatures as they were in the typography and the interesting facet in American history they served to illustrate. And then there are those curious folk who will, thank the Lord, collect just about anything.

Two pioneer autograph collectors formed excellent collections — Dr. Joshua I. Cohen of Baltimore and the redoubtable Dr. Thomas Addis Emmet. Dr. Cohen's group was purchased a number of years ago by Henry Ford and is now ensconced at Greenfield Village. Dr. Emmet's collection, bound into several volumes, now forms part of the currency collection at the New York Public Library.

Colonel Theodorus Bailey Myers, an autograph collector of considerable repute, laid away a number of notes and these also are incarcerated at the "New York Pub." Two other members of the autograph fraternity, Simon Gratz and Frank Etting, also gathered in a respectable group and these are now located at the Pennsylvania Historical Society.

One of the most extensive collections ever formed was that of the late Henry Chapman, a Philadelphia numismatic dealer. Chapman was the proud possessor of two excellent groups. Following his death the best group was purchased by F. C. C. Boyd of Ringoes, N. J. The second collection was purchased by J. S. Spiro of Maplewood, N. Y. Shortly before his death, several years ago, Spiro sold his collection to the American Antiquarian Society, sans the New Jersey notes. Since his death the collection has been split up among several collectors.

With little doubt the largest and finest collection ever formed was that of the late Frederick C. C. Boyd. The nucleus of his collection was the best of the Chapman collec-plished. With the present scarcity of items and the substantial increase in prices a good collection consisting of seven hundred fifty different items would be feasible. Beyond that point the going is very rough and he who surpasses it is either just plain lucky or else rich. It should be noted that most collectors are willing to overlook indifferent physical condition since most of the

for the payment of government expenses or in case of invasion. By 1764 it was declared illegal in the colonies. But, this act was not strictly enforced and the notes took on a diminishing role until 1775.

All of the thirteen colonies made issues. Vermont, not one of the original thirteen, also produced an issue in 1781. There were eight Vermont denominations in all and these are among the rarest of all.

With the outbreak of hostilities and the formation of the Continental Congress, the Congress also made a number of issues. They were known as Continental notes or currency and were to be acceptable in all of the colonies. After 1789 the states, under the new Constitution, were forbidden to coin money or issue currency. However, as late as 1835 some of the old notes were still being used as legal tender.

Three types of topography were used on "the little brown notes," as they are affectionately called by the collecting brotherhood: engraved on metal and printed in intaglio; set in type and bearing type ornaments; set in type with ornamentation engraved on wood. It is quite evident that they are far more superior in design and letter styling than the currency issued by our present Federal government but that is a story in itself.

Almost certainly the early issues of Maryland, South Carolina and Georgia were made from plates engraved in England. Later, however, plates were produced in the colonies. The paper was of the best quality obtainable but of course was not reinforced by animal or vegetable fiber. Most of the paper was of rag content and for the most part was imported from the Wookey Hole Mill in England, although one Pennsylvania mill is known to have furnished paper. Some of the Virginia issues of a later date were printed on rice paper. Even Franklin had his thumb in the pie for he furnished the paper for the twenty dollar Continental issue of May 10, 1775, which is the only note different in size and design of that entire series.

The currency soon became dilapidated and then began the practice of reinforcement by pasting paper on the back of the bill. Change was often made by halving and quartering the notes in spite of the efforts of the government to halt the procedure.

Counterfeiting soon raised its ugly head and was first discovered as early as 1704. It continued to be a problem regardless of all efforts to render the practice more difficult and the punishments more unusual or severe for its perpetrators. One of the early methods used to prove genuineness was that of an indented border. But due to wear and mutilation this method proved of little value and the practice was finally discontinued. Numbering of the notes and the placing of qualified signatures, both done by hand before issue, did serve to make the act of counterfeiting more difficult and easier to recognize but did not wipe out the crime completely.

To the best of our knowledge be-and charged all the traffic would bear for the finished product. He leveled a loaded musket at his colonial while he picked his pocket, and the various navigation acts made it all quite legal and potentially enforceable.

The frequent colonial wars, in part financed by the colonies, made some type of financing necessary. With a shortage of hard money, created in a large part by the mer-for the mother country contributed no men, money, or material. And it was hoped the booty captured would go far toward paying the costs of the enterprise.

The expedition failed and the returning Massachusetts militia demanded pay. There being insufficient money for the purpose, it was decided to create paper bills of credit to the amount of £7,000. Thus was created the first paper money put in circulation in British America. It was at first received skeptically but within a year was accepted as legal tender. The original issue was soon found to be inadequate and in the following year, 1691, the limit of issue was set at £40,000. It was not long before all of British America got around to issuing paper currency.

Many abuses soon arose. Exports from England were largely financed by credit. By 1760 these exports were valued at about £2,000,000 annually. However, there was £4,000,000 on the debit side of the ledger. Each year the debit mounted. The planters were at last obliged to pledge future crops of tobacco, rice, or indigo for additional credit. To make matters worse the English merchant, in order to protect himself, charged higher prices for his goods, higher carrying charges, and paid less for his raw materials.

There were two ways out of the dilemma. The colonist could decrease his purchases or pay off his creditors in colonial paper currency. He either could not or would not do the former and thus he chose the latter course. Inevitably, with no regulations in force, this led to a deflation in the value of the currency and an inflation of prices. This was particularly true in New England. For example, in 1702 it required £133 of New England currency to purchase £100 sterling and by 1748 it had sunk to £1,100. The English creditors at last were sufficiently burned that Parliament in 1751 passed an act regulating and curtailing the use of paper notes in New England to the extent that its use as legal tender was forbidden. Its use was, however, permissible cantilist practices, only one solution was possible — create more money via the printing press.

Colonial currency first made its appearance in Massachusetts. In 1690 Massachusetts' Governor, Sir William Phips, planned an attack against Quebec. Insufficient money in the treasury made it necessary to borrow money in the colony to pay for the expedition. It was to be entirely a New England enterprise,

Colonial Notes and Their Signers

FOR THE LOVE OF MONEY

By

JOSEPH E. FIELDS AND HARLEY L. FREEMAN, A.N.A. No. 2393

Revised and reprinted from an article in Manuscripts, XI, 2, 1959

AUTOGRAPH collectors have long been familiar with those seemingly nondescript scraps of paper that once passed as the folding stuff of colonial and revolutionary days. He manifests a tolerance for them because many were signed by one or more of the prominent figures of the period. Usually he does not go into ecstasy over them for they bear only a signature of the famous person. They are taken somewhat begrudgingly into the fold, either because he can't find a better example or because of a limitation on the contents of his purse. Few of the signatures are rare. Neither Lynch, Jr., Gwinnett, Washington nor Franklin ever signed one. Most owners do not seem particularly concerned with their typography.

Now things are really not what they seem, for there are those who treasure them highly, who collect them assiduously, and who are willing to pay prices that are continually mounting. The enthusiasm of the numismatist stems not from the signatures alone but from the significance they bear in our monetary, economic, and political history. The typophile is interested in them as examples of early typography and printing craftsmanship. B. Franklin is known to have printed many of the early Pennsylvania, Delaware, and New Jersey notes and P. Revere engraved the plates for the Massachusetts notes and bills of credit from 1775 until 1779. Each collecting group may prosper from the other's experience and it is hoped that a better understanding of these examples of "the black art" will result in more of them coming to light.

The necessity for the colonial and state notes stemmed from economic, political, and military necessity. During Britain's struggle for world power in the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Centuries a high degree of self-sufficiency was believed essential for ultimate victory. We have come to call this "British Mercantilism." It had as its goal the creation of an empire from which foreign trade and commerce was decreased to a bare minimum.

The British Colonies served a two-fold purpose in this economic theory and their participation was essential for its success. Their first function was to supply the raw materials for goods to be manufactured in England. Second, they were expected to consume a fair share of those finished products. The British merchant-manufacturer was thus in the unique position of determining the prices they would pay for raw materials as well as the prices to be paid for the finished article. Needless to say they paid as little as possible for the raw materials (1105-1154 A.D.) have a standing figure understood to be that of a saint on the reverse. Since Saint George at that time was the special patron of Sicily who had led the armies to victory both in Sicily and Palestine during the First Crusade we can assume that it is Saint George standing on the coins.

The German family of Mansfeld in the Thirteenth Century and the Este family of Ferrara, Italy in the Sixteenth Century showed an equestrian figure on their coins which later developed into the type of Saint George and the dragon. These early coins with a figure on horseback probably represented Saint George.

The first known coins of Saint George on horseback slaying a dragon are a testone of Ercole I (1475-1506 A.D.), Ferrara, Italy; a thaler of Mansfeld, Germany, 1521 A.D.; and a noble of Henry VIII, England, 1526 A.D.

From the Sixteenth Century on Saint George in combat is found on coins, medals, tokens or paper money of many countries, states or cities, including those of England, Canada, Hungary, Germany, Spain, Russia, Italy, France, Ethiopia, Netherlands and Switzerland. A piece from each of these various sources makes an interesting and different collection.

Saint George and the dragon may also be found on many orders or decorations, two examples being the Order of the Garter instituted in 1349 A.D. by the English King Edward III and the Constantine Order of Saint George which was probably founded by the Byzantine Emperor Isaac II about 1190 A.D. and whose Grandmastership today rests with the head of the Neapolitan Bourbons, descendants of the last Kings of the two Sicilies.

The Armenian gold medal, only one of its kind known, which started this discussion is owned by Dr. Y. A. Sargis, a Past President of the Penn-Ohio Coin Clubs and a collector since 1889. The medal was given to Dr. Sargis by the Governor of Persian Armenia about 1910 in payment for medical services. The governor took the medal from the neck of a Kurdish tribesman who probably obtained it during one of the Armenian massacres.

Dr. Sargis was forced to flee with his wife and children from his homeland during the Armenian massacre of 1914 and this medal was one of six pieces which he managed to save from his former very large numismatic collection.

The medal is struck in gold and measures 41 mm. in diameter. The large piece at the top is a cylinder 10 mm. long which adds 5 mm. to the height of the medal. It is used to suspend the medal on a chain or cord.

"In God We Trust" Plaque Dedication

The Reverend Mark R. Watkinson was minister of a church on the site of the present Prospect Hill Baptist Church, corner of Lincoln and Seventh Aves., Prospect Park, Pa., in 1861 when he suggested "the recognition of Almighty God in some form on our coins." Preparations are being completed for the Delaware County Coin Club to place a plaque on this site in memory of the Reverend Watkinson and the motto "In God We Trust." The ceremony will be held at 3:00 p.m. Sunday, April 29, during National Coin Week. Every one is invited.

William E. Membrano, President of the Delaware County Coin Club, will be master of ceremonies. Sam Newsome, President of the Delaware County Historical Society will unveil the plaque. L. Howard Freeman, Moderator of the Church will receive the plaque. John D. Roberts, Vice President of the Delaware County Coin Club, will be club representative. Vernon L. Brown of the Chase National Bank and Arthur Sipe, officer in both the American Numismatic Association and the Middle Atlantic Numismatic Association, will represent their organizations. L. Earl Jackson, the Minister of the Prospect Hill Baptist Church will offer the closing prayer. — WILLIAM C. BOSTON, A.N.A. No. 13950 sometimes had an eagle on the crown of the king and the representation on the top of this rider's head might be taken as an eagle put there to signify that he is a king. Even more significant is the observation that the Armenian kings from Leon II, (1185-1218 A.D.), to Leon VI, (1375-1393 A.D.), struck coins showing themselves mounted on horseback and carrying a long cross, very similar to the cross-headed spear carried by the rider on this medal. About the only difference between these Armenian coins and the medal is the absence of the dragon on the coins.

Assuming that the designer did mean to show the rider as a king then we feel that this is King Tiridates III in the classical representation of the triumph of Christianity over paganism. This symbolism is emphasized by the use of a cross-headed spear which is rarely found in any of the many different Christian representations of an angel or saint slaying a dragon. Such a symbolic use of King Tiridates would be justified since upon his conversion he did destroy the pagan gods, temples and literature of what had been the Armenian state religion. From that time on the Armenians were Christians.

The slaying of a dragon by a hero is a widespread story which can be traced back to ancient Babylon about 3800 B.C. In Greek mythology, Perseus is found slaying the dragon to save Andromeda, Princess of Ethiopia. (Incidentally, the name Perseus means horse and rider.)

In Egyptian mythology, Horus, son of the Sun God Osiris, slays Set, the God of Darkness. There is an Egyptian bas-relief in the Louvre at Paris showing Horus, mounted on a horse, slaying the crocodile monster with a spear. Crocodiles and serpents were symbols of Set.

An important Armenian legendary king was Vahagn who is known as a slayer of dragons. Vahagn was deified and became one of the three great gods of pagan Armenia.

In early Christian art many saints were represented slaying a dragon who generally symbolized the devil. There are quite a few pictures of Saint Michael the Archangel, a pure spirit, in combat with Apollyon. In numismatics we find this scene on a gold coin of the English King Edward IV first minted in 1464 A.D. and called an "angel" because of the presence of Saint Michael slaying the dragon on the obverse.

An example of an early saint who is said to have slain a dragon to save a city is Saint Theodore of Heraclea, a Roman general who became a Christian martyr in Cappadocia about 319 A.D. He is frequently found in Christian art slaying a dragon.

Little is known of Saint George and much of that is confused with legend. He was the son of an illustrious family of Cappadocia and was elevated at a young age by the Roman Emperor Diocletian to one of the highest offices in the Imperial ministry. He died a Christian martyr in 303 A.D.

It is interesting to note that Saint Gregory the Illuminator, Saint Theodore of Heraclea and Saint George of Cappadocia were apparently contemporaries in Cappadocia and all were from families in the ruling class. The legend of Saint George and Saint Theodore are similar in many details of their lives, location, occupation, family and death (details which space does not permit listing here) and yet they seem to be different saints. All these legends, both pagan and Christian originate in the Eastern Mediterranean.

Saint George was venerated as early as the reign of Constantine the Great (280-337 A.D.), who erected a church and tomb at his supposed burying place in Cappadocia some twenty years after the saint's presumed martyrdom. The Greek Church from earliest time represented him with a dragon under his feet and a crowned virgin at his side, a symbolical way of saying that he overcame sin, for the dragon represents the Devil and the crowned maiden represents the Church. There were many more of these allegorical references to Saint George and a dragon but it is not until the writings of the Twelfth Century that Saint George gets on a horse and slays a dragon to save a princess.

Space does not permit even an outline of the sixteenth centuries of Saint George as a subject for the artist except to say that his story has been done in every medium, in every artistic period, in many different Christian countries, in every facet of his life and legend of which the story of the dragon and the princess is but a single incident.

Our present interest is in numismatic art and we first find Saint George on some Imperial Byzantine coins minted from the reign of Alexius I (1081-1118 A.D.) to Alexius III (1195-1203 A.D.) On none of these coins is there a horse or dragon.

SAINT GEORGE AND THE DRAGON

By

E. F. COOKE, A.N.A. No. 30318 AND L. M. CADDY, A.N.A. No. 14829

A UNIQUE Armenian gold medal was exhibited for the first time at the 1961 Fall Convention of the Penn-Ohio Coin Clubs in Cleveland, Ohio. The presence on the reverse of the medal of a man on horseback slaying a dragon prompted a numismatic study of Saint George and the Dragon which is presented padocia and by his conversion of King Tiridates III made Armenia the first Christian state.

The only inscription on the medal appears on the obverse and consists of two pairs of classical Armenian capital letters, GR. on the left side of the seated Saint and LS. on the right side. GR. LS. is the abbrevia-here along with some Armenian history.

The obverse of the medal shows Saint Gregory the Illuminator, Apostle of Armenia, (239-325 A.D.), who converted the Armenian King Tiridates III, (250-337 A.D.), to Christianity about 302 A.D. Saint Gregory was an Armenian prince who had been educated in the Christian religion in Caption for Grigor Lousavorich which is Armenian for Gregory the Illuminator.

There are two reasons to believe that the figure on horseback on the reverse was meant to be a king. There appears to be a bird on the hat or helmet of this rider. The ancient Armenian coins struck during the Greek (Parthian) and Roman period
